Gunmen seize school

ASSEN, The Netherlands (AP) — Two groups of heavily armed South Moluccan extremists, striking two days before the Dutch general election, seized an elementary school and hijacked a train in the northern Netherlands today, authorities reported.

Police said six gunmen were believed holding 105 children and six teachers in the school and seven terrorists had about 50 hostages aboard the train.

It was the second double 'terrorist' action by members of the Asian immigrant group in the Netherlands in 18 months.

South Moluccan activists demand that the Dutch intervene to help them win independence from Indonesia for their homeland, part of the former Dutch East Indies. The Dutch have called the demand unrealistic.

The Moluccan islands, the former Spice Islands, are situated between the Celebes and New Guinea.

There was no report of casualties in today's twin strikes, which came at about the same time and about 10 miles apart. The attackers made no immediate demands.

The train was halted near the village of Onnen, just north of this city, and the school is in the village of Boven-Smilde, just south of here. Assen is about 130 miles northeast of Amsterdam.

A government official said the gunmen forced their way into the school, situated near a housing complex where some 500 South Moluccans reside, at the start of morning lessons. They quickly released about 15 South Moluccan children.

The gunmen covered the inside of windows in two rooms with paper, police said. When local South Moluccans tried to talk to them, the terrorists opened a window and fired a few shots, police said.

Shortly after noon, a group of anxious parents tried to rush the school but were held back by police.

Hans Uffing, a spokesman for the Dutch railway system, said the engineer and conductor of the commandeered four-car train reported that about 50 of its 100 passengers escaped after the gunmen hijacked it during the morning rush-hour.

Carter signs tax measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter signed into law today a bill he said will give individual taxpayers $5 billion of direct and immediate relief, with lower tax-withholding rates expected to take effect next month.

In signing tax legislation that was part of his once-broader plan to stimulate the nation's economy, Carter told his White House Rose Garden audience of congressional bigwigs:

"One of the most pleasant things for a President or the Congress to do is reduce taxes."

If a measure can boost the economy at the same time, he said, that was an added bonus.

Over the next 28 months, the new law will produce estimated tax reductions of $34.1 billion.

At the same ceremony, Carter also signed a measure authorizing $225 million in grants and loans to help drought-stricken Western communities drill deeper wells, build waterways and deal in other ways with the effects of the prolonged dry spell.

Carter noted that all projects under the drought relief law must be completed by next April, which he saw as a harbinger of speedy assistance.

The President took pains to acknowledge the presence of some key Congress members who helped expedite passage of both bills and actually turned over his microphone to Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., of the House Ways and Means Committee and Sen. Quentin Burdick, D-N.D.

Ullman said he thought dealings between Congress and the White House on the tax measure "demonstrated that the President has flexibility."

Rotary auction a success

The Rotary Club's first radio-cable television auction last week was a success. Over 200 items were donated to the club and sold. Total receipts exceeded $2,700, making this the largest fund-raising event the club has had. Persons who have not paid for their items are asked to go by the Cliff Morris Insurance Agency, 417 S. Kingshighway to receive their paid receipt. All Rotarians will meet tonight at Lucien Stoner's cabin at Lake Wappapello for a steak cook-out to celebrate the successful auction. Rotarians taking bids over the telephone, seated from left, are Alex Waters, Tony Heckmeyer, Ron Payne and Pat Jones. Changing bids on the blackboard are Ralph McElroy and Lucien Stoner. Bringing the bids to the auctioneers are Sue Green and Matthew Blanton.

10 hurt in accidents, 2 seriously

Ten persons were injured, two seriously, in five accidents Sunday on area roads, the highway patrol reported today.

Three New Madrid residents received minor injuries in a two-vehicle accident involving a car and tractor-trailer truck at 2:05 a.m. Sunday on Interstate 55, 10 miles south of Sikeston.

Taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital at Sikeston were Nathaniel Malone, 25, driver of a northbound car, and two passengers in the car, Daisy Crockett, 16, and Alicia Malone, 17.

The patrol said the accident occurred when the Malone car was struck in the rear by the tractor-trailer, driven by Larry John Dickson, 35, of Demotte, Ind. The car was carried across the median into the southbound lane, where both vehicles overturned. The car caught fire and burned and the truck blocked both lanes of traffic for three hours.

Fire departments from Sikeston and Miner were called to the scene to extinguish the car fire and wash approximately 150 gallons of diesel fuel from the highway.

A one-car accident at 1 a.m. Sunday on Highway 21, eight miles north of Doniphan, resulted in serious injuries to two-Doniphan residents, David Wayne Harris, 22, driver of a northbound car, and a passenger, Harold Lee Rainbolt, 20.

The accident occurred when the Harris car ran off the left side of the road and struck a bridge abutment head-on.

The injury victims were taken to Ripley County Hospital at Doniphan and Harris was cited for careless and imprudent driving.

Ira Hobart Johnson, 79, of Bakersville, driver of a westbound car, sustained moderate injuries in a one-car accident at 12:20 a.m. Sunday on Highway 160, 12 miles west of Doniphan.

He was taken to Ripley County Hospital at Doniphan.

The accident occurred when Harris' car ran off the road on a curve and struck a tree.

A two-car accident at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Intersection of Interstate 57 and Highway 105 at Charleston brought minor injuries to a Cape Girardeau woman, Dorris Green, 72, a passenger in a car driven by

Cab driver robbed here

A City Cab driver was robbed of $67.75 about 9:44 p.m. Saturday, the Department of Public Safety reported today.

Ferrell Gravit told officers two-black men stopped him Saturday night and asked to be taken to the Piggly-Wiggly Store. On Compress Road the men reportedly grabbed Gravit and took his wallet containing the cab company's money.

3rd man held in rape case

CHARLESTON — A third East Prairie man has been arrested and charged with statutory rape and is being held in Mississippi County jail, Sheriff Norris Grissom said today.

Jim Reynolds, 60, of East Prairie was arrested about 4:30 p.m. Friday by the highway patrol on a warrant charging him with one count of statutory rape. Reynolds reportedly was attempting to leave the area when he was arrested by the patrol south of Sikeston.

Two other men, Gee B. "Bounce" Johnson, 55, and James E. Martin, 57, of East Prairie, were arrested Wednesday on two counts of statutory rape. Johnson is free on $2,500 bond and Martin and Reynolds remain in custody under $2,500 bonds each.

The alleged incidents occurred May 17 and reportedly involve two East Prairie girls, ages 13 and 14.

Senate to take up pay raise bills

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The second attempt by lawmakers to increase their pay in two years, this one coupled with substantial hikes for judges and statewide elected officials, will be in the hand of the state Senate when it resumes work this week.

The three pay raise measures are behind only four other bills on the Senate agenda this week and with more than three weeks remaining in this session than a governor's desk are excellent.

Senate Democratic Floor Leader John Schneider of St. Louis County says he has the needed 18 votes to get all three bills through the 34-member Senate. The measures easily cleared the House early this session under the guidance of Speaker

Kenneth Rothman.

The legislature sent a proposed $4,000 pay hike to Republican Gov. Christopher S. Bond in 1975 on narrow votes in each chamber. But Bond vetoed it on the grounds that no other legislative reforms had been passed.

Democratic Gov. Joseph Teasdale told lawmakers in his legislative address that they deserved a pay raise and there is little doubt he will sign the $6-,600 boost into law. It would take effect in 1979.

The legislative pay raises and the other two pay boosts are part of a four-point package recommended by a special citizens commission formed to review public officials' salary levels. The fourth measure recommending pay hikes for state department directors has already cleared the House and is pending before a Senate committee.

Appeals court returns Saveway case to Stoddard

SPRINGFIELD — The Missouri Court of Appeals, Springfield District, has returned a case involving Saveway Gas & Appliance Co. of Dexter and the Division of Employment Security to Stoddard County Circuit Court with instructions to return it to the Industrial Commission of Missouri for further proceedings.

The case started when claimants for unemployment benefits filed their claims with the Sikeston office of the Division of Employment Security on Feb. 28, 1973. Each of the claims set forth the employer's name as Saveway Gas & Appliance. The claims were forwarded to Jefferson City for processing.

On March 9, 1973 the company's accountants received notice of the claims, which were forwarded to the company under a postmark of March 12. The company lodged a protest on March 14.

On March 15 a deputy of the Division of Employment Security advised the company that its protest had not been filed in time and thus it did not qualify as "an interested party" and had no appeal rights to the issue raised by the protest.

The company appealed this determination to the Appeals Tribunal of the Division of Employment Security and following a hearing that body affirmed the deputy's determination.

Review of the decision by the Industrial Commission was sought and obtained by the company; the commission returned the matter to the Appeals Tribunal for an evidentiary hearing on the issue of the date of mailing the notices of initial claims to respondent.

At that hearing, testimony of the supervisors of the data processing operations, the mail room, benefit charge unit and determination computation subunit of the Division of Employment Security at Jefferson City was received.

After the hearing, the Industrial Commission affirmed the earlier determination that respondent was not an interested party to the allowance of benefits to the claimants.

The company then filed a petition for judicial review in the Circuit Court. That court heard, over the company's objections, evidence in addition to that contained in the administrative record. That court's finding and order followed.

"We agree with the trial court that the mailing of the notices of initial claims to respondent's (Saveway's) accountants failed to meet the requirements" of law, the Appeals Court decision said.

The law said, "Any such...employer...who within seven calendar days after the mailing of notice of the initial claim...to his or its last known address files a written protest against the allowance of benefits shall be deemed an interested party."

The Appeals Court decision said, "The statute requires the notice of initial claim to be mailed to the employing unit's last known address. Here, the testimony of the division's employees dealt solely with the ordinary procedure followed in processing claims. There was no evidence when the instant notices were in fact mailed from Jefferson City. The conclusion voiced by the supervisor of the mail room that they were mailed is simply that—a conclusion. Where mailing is an issue, there must be proof."

The Division of Employment Security contended that the Industrial Commission "may infer that the notice at issue here was mailed and could have been delivered promptly as a matter of routine."

"We disagree," the higher court ruled. "The statute permits no such inference. There is no competent evidence as to when the notices were mailed and the uncontradicted evidence is that the notices arrived in Dexter on March 9, 1973."

The appeals court ruled that the findings of fact and conclusions of law of the Industrial Commission on the issue of notice are not supported by substantial and competent evidence and the trial court did not err in reversing and remanding the proceedings to the Industrial Commission that respondent be allowed to file protests as an interested party.

The court agreed with the state agency, however, that the lower court exceeded its jurisdiction under the law in hearing additional evidence and ruling the question of the nature of claimants termination of their employment with respondent.

"This issue was not before the reviewing court and it remains the function of the trier of fact, the Industrial Commission in this case, to determine this factual dispute," the court ruled.

Survey warns of health risk

An alarming percentage of Sikeston area residents have uncontrolled high blood pressure—a disease which can disable or even kill—according to projections made for this area from a national survey.

In Scott County, for example, an estimated 5,831 residents, 17 per cent of the population, have high blood pressure. Only 1,169 of these people have their blood pressures under adequate control, according to the projection.

The data was released in connection with the federal government's designation of May as National High Blood Pressure Month.

The projections, similar to those made by the television networks to forecast the winners of elections, are based upon a national survey that measured the blood pressures of over a million people at 1,171 sites in large and small communities in 42 states. It was the first large-scale, community-based program to detect high blood pressure.

CIBA Pharmaceutical Co. co-sponsored the survey with local professional and civic groups in conjunction with the federally sponsored National High Blood Pressure Education Program.

Appeals court returns Saveway case to Stoddard

SPRINGFIELD — The Missouri Court of Appeals, Springfield District, has returned a case involving Saveway Gas & Appliance Co. of Dexter and the Division of Employment Security to Stoddard County Circuit Court with instructions to return it to the Industrial Commission of Missouri for further proceedings.

The case started when claimants for unemployment benefits filed their claims with the Sikeston office of the Division of Employment Security on Feb. 26, 1973. Each of the claims set forth the employer's name as Saveway Gas & Appliance. The claims were forwarded to Jefferson City for processing.

On March 9, 1973 the company's accountants received notice of the claims, which were forwarded to the company under a postmark of March 12. The company lodged a protest on March 14.

TAMING TV
VIOLENCE

People are getting violent about violence on television. "It's time for a call to arms," said Michael Rothenberg of the University of Washington Medical School at the recent annual meeting of the American Orthopsychiatric Association. "We need a concerted effort toward major program revisions that are more stimulating and less violent."

The American Medical Association has declared television violence to be "an environmental health risk."

In California, the state medical association has filed a friend-of-the-court brief on behalf of the nine-year-old victim in a rape case. The defendants (all adolescents) are claiming that they were inspired to the act by a similar episode they saw in a television movie.

Television has become "a school of violence and a college for crime," says the association's brief. "It is in the interests of the health of all Americans, especially our children, to hold broadcasters civilly accountable for acts which lead to foreseeable harm."

The National Parent Teachers Association has given the networks notice that it is putting them on six-months' "probation" beginning July 1. If there is no "substantial response" during that time to demands for less TV gore and more diversity and quality in programming, the PTA will consider such alternative courses of action as boycotts of sponsors and local stations, selected test cases to deny license renewals and civil litigation.

While not all researchers are convinced of a direct cause-and-effect relationship between television watching and violent or antisocial behavior, there seems to be general agreement that many children are unable to understand the contexts in which televised acts of violence occur. Nor is there any doubt about the tremendous importance television has come to play in children's lives.

One survey has found that young children watch more than 23 hours of television a week and that teenagers watch nearly 20 — as much time as most of them spend in classrooms and much more time than they spend reading.

"Television is ubiquitous," says the Council for Basic Education. "If kids ever had a frame of reference, they have one now in television, which provides them with the language, the models and the tastes they share with each other. Whether adults like it or not, television is their medium."

Realizing this, some groups are taking a different approach. Rather than attempting to reform either television or children's viewing habits, they are working with what is good about the medium.

For example, "Teachers Guides to Television," which is published twice a year in New York, has launched pilot projects in three cities called Parent Participation TV workshops. Parents come to school to watch a television broadcast with their children. Teachers then serve as moderators of a cross-generation discussion about the program and demonstrate to parents how to use television at home to encourage family communication.

The aim of the workshops is to teach parents to use television not as a babysitter but as a way to open a dialogue with their children, to encourage discussions about values and morals and to stay in touch with their children's feelings.

As the Council for Basic Education points out, the ultimate responsibility for what children watch on television rests with parents. No one is in a better position to provide supervision and guidance.

"Not all commercial television is trash," says the Council, "and even some that is trashy can have positive educational value — if parents will give the interest, the time and the effort sometimes to watch with their children, often to talk with them about whatever they watch."

THE MONDALE WHITEWASH

From The Washington Post

Last July, two weeks before Jimmy Carter chose Walter Mondale as his running-mate, the Minnesota rhapsodized in an interview about some of the joys that would be his if Mr. Carter chose him—and the public, in turn, chose them. Among those joys he listed the prospect of moving into the Naval Observatory midway up the hill on Massachusetts Avenue NW. And he went so far as to promise—without reservations or qualification—that if elected he would make it his business early in his administration to give a coating of white paint to the two heavy anchors decorating the observatory's entrance. For reasons unknown, during the Rockefeller residency they had been painted a Stygian black. Although we haven't gone through every syllable of the Mondale record since that day, we believe that this was his sole campaign pledge made independently of Mr. Carter.

So we are pleased to report that this pledge has been kept—comfortably within the first 100 days. True, the Vice President did seem for a time to be waffling, in a way that gave a lot of us some nervous moments. Two weeks ago, commuters were startled to find the anchors a seawick green. Days later, they were school-bus yellow. But now, we are pleased to report, they are white—a sparkling white. And that, we have since been assured, was the intention all along. The green and yellow periods were never anything more than undercoatings.

The newly whitened anchors are both appropriate and functional. They are, you could say, Navy white, which ought to please the former-midshipman-become-President. And because they gleam smartly, they serve as useful landmarks when locals give out directions. They have, moreover, a deeper significance: By making good on his bold pledge, Mr. Mondale may have become the first major candidate in history to meet his obligation to the public by applying a quick and complete whitewash.

IMPROVING THE OLD TIES

Humankind is gobbling up earth's resources at such a pace that it seems worth noting when someone finds a good way to reuse an already-manufactured project. Today's example, in what might be called Recycling 101, involves that humble hunk of timber, the railroad tie.

Railroads in the United States now replace about 29,000,000 ties a year, and nearly all are discarded. As planned railroad rebuilding efforts gather momentum, this figure may rise to 40,000,000 a year. Rather a great many ties, which would consume annually between 60,000,000 and 70,000,000 board feet of new lumber.

Out in Vancouver, Wash., a retiree named Edward Potter has developed a process for reconstituting old ties into new ties that are actually better than new. His process involves grinding old ties into fragments which then are compressed into new ties and bound with a high-strength resin. They don't split, they don't catch fire from sparks and they stand up better than old-style ties under heavy train traffic.

Result? A once-wasted resource can be productively reused: timber, needed for house construction, is conserved; and roadbeds even may last longer. An epidemic or other unpreventable occurrence such as blizzards, storms, road conditions or others, can drastically reduce the money a district will receive in state aid.

In the meantime, it's costs go on just as usual. Per day of the usual term, it costs just as much to operate for 100 as it does for 300.

It seems to us it would be more fair to base that aid on "average enrollment." In this case, those who handle the finances would have a more firm idea of what money to expect.

Missing Witness: Primitivo Mijares is missing.

Two years ago, Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos tried to bribe Mijares to keep him from testifying before the U.S. Congress. We produced bank records on July 2, 1975, tracing the $50,000 bribe to Trinidad Alconcel, the Philippines consul in San Francisco, who placed the money in a bank for Mijares. The $50,000 was withdrawn, however, after Mijares went ahead with his testimony. As a former journalistic hatchetman for Marcos, the witness told about tyranny in the Philippines. Then he asked for asylum in the United States; he would be killed, he said, if he were forced to return to Manila.

Yet astonishingly, the State Department never acted on his asylum request. The Justice Department also stalled on the bribe investigation. The last we heard from Mijares was a mysterious letter, postmarked last January from Honolulu. He wrote that he was about to take off on "a daring sortie to the Philippines."

"For security reasons," he cautioned, "I would request you not to breathe a word of this daring trip to anyone until I can call you by phone. Or...I'll send you proof from Manila, a letter with this." He drew a star with a circle around it. "Wish me luck," he added.

In the letter, Mijares gave us the name of a trusted friend in San Francisco to check with. When we heard no more from Mijares, we checked with the friend. But he also has heard nothing. As quietly as possible, we have been trying to trace Mijares. But we have learned nothing from the State Department, nothing from our Filipino sources.

Primitivo Mijares' fate remains a mystery. But the man who tried to bribe him, Trinidad Alconcel, has overcome his embarrassment. He slipped away from San Francisco after our story was published. But he has now turned up in Honolulu, with full credentials as the Philippines consul.

Who's News: Rep. Robert Kasten, R-Wis., has received a form letter from Vice President Walter Mondale. The letter begs for funds "to assure that Democrats win majorities" in the 1978 House elections. "The party must...depend on you to join this effort," the Mondale letter urges. Congressman Kasten, a dyed-in-the-wool Republican, is unimpressed.

PROTECTING THE LAND
FROM STRIPPING

From The Des Moines Register

Coal is America's most plentiful fuel. A vast lode of it rests just beneath Midwest farm land. Stripping the land and gouging out the coal is a simple task; and there's enough coal available to supply the nation's energy needs for at least 400 years.

But coal harvested by stripping presents as many problems as it may resolve.

The conflicting perceptions flowing from coal's abundance have been exemplified in Washington at opposite ends of Pennsylvania Avenue. At the White House, a presidential aid extolled coal's future, while at the Capitol, an Illinois official expressed fears about what coal mining could do to otherwise productive farm land.

Illinois annually loses between 80,000 and 100,000 fertile acres, not all because of mining. If stripping is spurred by national energy policies, land-wasting will accelerate.

The witness asked Congress to forbid further stripping of fertile land unless miners pledged to restore the acreage they exploit to the same agricultural productivity it had before stripping began. Existing reclamation methods may not be sufficiently sophisticated to make such restoration possible.

The first priority must be to devise sensible land-use policies to prevent unnecessary destruction of productive land. Congress must also enact the kind of reclamation law that former President Ford twice vetoed. To ensure that miners would reclaim the land their stripping despoils, the bills would have required that coal companies post performance bonds. The proposals would have mandated federal inspection and licensing of stripmine operations. Reckless or environmentally unsound practices would have incurred stiff fines. The interior secretary would have been allowed to issue or deny stripmining permits using the public interest—rather than corporate profitability—as the standard on which to base his decisions. The short-range economies of strip-mining are not worth its potential damage to fields and forests unless adequate safeguards are enacted to protect fertile land from destruction.

Drop Dead City?

Big Apple, with $7.5 billion payroll taking big bite, still faces bankruptcy

NEW YORK — Little David,

otherwise known as His Honor the Mayor, Abe Beame, all 5-foot-2 of him, glared at the Goliath known as the media, announced he wanted another four-year term as head of this cashless city, and then retorted to a tormenting journalist who had inquired if His Honor didn't believe that being 71 years of age was too old for the job.

Abe Beame offered to race the competition around the block. It would be quite a sprint.

Not only because of the pickets who howled just outside the gates of this gracious sunlit East River lawn of the mansion on Gracie Square where we had all assembled the other day, but because the opposition is long-winded, full of clout and with some fascinating connections.

Apparently lots of politicians believe this vote-heavy metropolis is worth grabbing, through after June 30, 1978, it will need to borrow some $4 billion in the open credit market to stay solvent. Such cash will be hard to come by since the politics and profligacy of this town's past Democratic-Liberal mayors rolled up a $7.5 billion annual payroll. And billions more in interest service charges.

Yes, this Big Apple is a profile in the profligacy of politicians who always deliver to "the people" — meaning to the best organized machines.

Just look at the record: it takes some $67,000 a year to cover one New York City police captain. And about $37,000 annually to pay and provide all the perquisites of a uniformed cop. Also $34,000 yearly for one firefighter's cash wages and fringes. And some $22,000 annually for each sanitation man—before overtime.

From the city cash box must come over $15,000 a year for full wage and benefit coverage of a Transport Workers Union subway platform and toilet washer. The wage rate is about the same for a municipal hospital porter, whose dignity I respect but whose productivity and his or her skills and devotion I frequently don't.

And how can any municipality survive financially where the total annual Medicaid bill is $2 billion? Of this total the federal government pays half, the state a quarter and the city throws in $500 million. These awesome statistics are about the same for "welfare" clients on what is technically and sociologically known as "public assistance."

Thus the total bill to the city itself each year is a stupendous billion dollars. Much of it goes to ineligibles. Or is otherwise ripped off by vendors including physicians now being grilled by U.S. attorney Robert Fiske and District Attorneys in the major counties.

Further, lest the impression is given here that only the proletarians of traditional muscular skills are reaching deep into the public coffers, there is the intelligentsia — the 18,000 professorial men and women who are paid far more by the City University (CUNY) of New York than are 90 per cent of college teachers anywhere else. Thus it takes $160.8 million yearly to support CUNY's senior colleges.

Abe Beame laid it on the line that balmy morning. With enormous courage, Little David disclosed he had trimmed the city payrolls of 60,000 employees. That took guts.

For mingling on the green with the media and the bright young people who were winging it into the Beame primary campaign were some of the nation's most powerful labor leaders. They were from the construction trades, the waterfront, the million-member city Central Labor Council, the garment industry, etc. They listened quietly. And they talked later about the loyalty they will show Abe.

Why this "loyalty"? Why are they bucking the opposition to Beame, conjured up by their own Democratic Gov. Hugh Carey and by such intimates of Jimmy Carter as pollster Pat Caddell? Most of the opposition forces are behind New York Secretary of State Mario Cuomo for whom Frankie Sinatra will wing it.

The answer is that these labor leaders are realists. Most of them are from the private sector. And this vast city is their home, the center of their payrolls, education and family life.

These labor chiefs have watched as the public sector unions — especially the police, the firefighters and the sanitation men — escalate the city payrolls and operating expenses to the point where Wisconsin Sen. William Proxmire, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, has said the city might as well go bankrupt.

But if it does collapse, not only will banks across the nation holding hundreds of million of dollars' worth of New York City bonds shudder as the dumping of the big Apple makes financial waves — but here there will be payless days, no credit for public construction and an almost science-fictional sinking into a rotting morass by the sea.

So most labor chiefs are for little Abe, who'll have to sprint hard to beat the field studded with Goliaths.

TAMING TV
VIOLENCE

People are getting violent about violence on television. "It's time for a call to arms," said Michael Rothenberg of the University of Washington Medical School at the recent annual meeting of the American Orthopsychiatric Association. "We need a concerted effort toward major program revisions that are more stimulating and less violent."

The American Medical Association has declared television violence to be "an environmental health risk."

In California, the state medical association has filed a friend- of- the-court brief on behalf of the nine-year-old victim in a rape case. The defendants (all adolescents) are claiming that they were inspired to the act by a similar episode they saw in a television movie.

Television has become "a school of violence and a college for crime," says the association's brief. "It is in the interests of the health of all Americans, especially our children, to hold broadcasters civilly accountable for acts which lead to foreseeable harm."

The National Parent Teachers Association has given the networks notice that it is putting them on six-months' "probation" beginning July 1. If there is no "substantial response" during that time to demands for less TV gore and more diversity and quality in programming, the PTA will consider such alternative courses of action as boycotts of sponsors and local stations, selected test cases to deny license renewals and civil litigation.

While not all researchers are convinced of a direct cause- and- effect relationship between television watching and violent or antisocial behavior, there seems to be general agreement that many children are unable to understand the contexts in which televised acts of violence occur. Nor is there any doubt about the tremendous importance television has come to play in children's lives.

One survey has found that young children watch more than 23 hours of television a week and that teenagers watch nearly 20 — as much time as most of them spend in classrooms and much more time than they spend reading.

"Television is ubiquitous," says the Council for Basic Education. "If kids ever had a frame of reference, they have one now in television, which provides them with the language, the models and the tastes they share with each other. Whether adults like it or not, television is their medium."

Realizing this, some groups are taking a different approach. Rather than attempting to reform either television or children's viewing habits, they are working with what is good about the medium.

For example, "Teachers Guides to Television," which is published twice a year in New York, has launched pilot projects in three cities called Parent Participation TV workshops. Parents come to school to watch a television broadcast with their children. Teachers then serve as moderators of a cross- generation discussion about the program and demonstrate to parents how to use television at home to encourage family communication.

The aim of the workshops is to teach parents to use television not as a babysitter but as a way to open a dialogue with their children, to encourage discussions about values and morals and to stay in touch with their children's feelings.

As the Council for Basic Education points out, the ultimate responsibility for what children watch on television rests with parents. No one is in a better position to provide supervision and guidance.

"Not all commercial television is trash," says the Council, "and even some that is trashy can have positive educational value — if parents will give the interest, the time and the effort sometimes to watch with their children, often to talk with them about whatever they watch."

An epidemic or other unpreventable occurrence such as blizzards, storms, road conditions or others, can drastically reduce the money a district will receive in state aid.

In the meantime, it's costs go on just as usual. Per day of the usual term, it costs just as much to operate for 100 as it does for 300.

It seems to us it would be more fair to base that aid on "average enrollment." In this case, those who handle the finances would have a more firm idea of what money to expect.

bounds: some have been fools. But others have been unsung heroes whose deeds surpass the most valorous in our history yet must remain unrecorded.

Footnote: During the Nixon era, the CIA joined other government agencies in a massive police action against us. The project was called "Operation Mudhen." At one point, the CIA used 18 radio cars to trail us. Agents set up a command post near our office and photographed everyone who entered it. Other agents used sophisticated electronic equipment to monitor our conversations.

This illegal harassment upset White House press secretary Jody Powell who has checked with Turner to make sure nothing of this sort is going on under President Carter. The CIA chief assured Powell that "Operation Mudhen" has been suspended and that we are no longer under CIA surveillance.

Missing Witness: Primitivo Mijares is missing.

Two years ago, Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos tried to bribe Mijares to keep him from testifying before the U.S. Congress. We produced bank records on July 2, 1975, tracing the $50,000 bribe to Trinidad Alconcel, the Philippines consul in San Francisco, who placed the money in a bank for Mijares. The $50,000 was withdrawn, however, after Mijares went ahead with his testimony. As a former journalistic hatchman for Marcos, the witness told about tyranny in the Philippines. Then he asked for asylum in the United States; he would be killed, he said, if he were forced to return to Manila.

Yet astonishingly, the State Department never acted on his asylum request. The Justice Department also stalled on the bribe investigation. The last we heard from Mijares was a mysterious letter, postmarked last January from Honolulu. He wrote that he was about to take off on "a daring sortie to the Philippines."

"For security reasons," he cautioned, "I would request you not to breathe a word of this daring trip to anyone until I can call you by phone. Or...I'll send you proof from Manila, a letter with this." He drew a star with a circle around it. "Wish me luck," he added.

In the letter, Mijares gave us the name of a trusted friend in San Francisco to check with. When we heard no more from Mijares, we checked with the friend. But he also has heard nothing. As quietly as possible, we have been trying to trace Mijares. But we have learned nothing from the State Department, nothing from our Filipino sources.

Primitivo Mijares' fate remains a mystery. But the man who tried to bribe him, Trinidad Alconcel, has overcome his embarrassment. He slipped away from San Francisco after our story was published. But he has now turned up in Honolulu, with full credentials as the Philippines consul.

Who's News: Rep. Robert Kasten, R-Wis., has received a form letter from Vice President Walter Mondale. The letter begs for funds "to assure that Democrats win majorities" in the 1978 House elections. "The party must depend on you to join this effort," the Mondale letter urges. Congressman Kasten, a dyed-in-the-wool Republican, is unimpressed.

PROTECTING THE LAND
FROM STRIPPING

From The Des Moines Register

Coal is America's most plentiful fuel. A vast lode of it rests just beneath Midwest farm land. Stripping the land and gouging out the coal is a simple task; and there's enough coal available to supply the nation's energy needs for at least 400 years.

But coal harvested by stripping presents as many problems as it may resolve.

The conflicting perceptions flowing from coal's abundance have been exemplified in Washington at opposite ends of Pennsylvania Avenue. At the White House, a presidential aide extolled coal's future, while at the Capitol, an Illinois official expressed fears about what coal mining could do to otherwise productive farm land.

Illinois annually loses between 80,000 and 100,000 fertile acres, not all because of mining. If stripping is spurred by national energy policies, land-wasting will accelerate.

The witness asked Congress to forbid further stripping of fertile land unless miners pledged to restore the acreage they exploit to the same agricultural productivity it had before stripping began. Existing reclamation methods may not be sufficiently sophisticated to make such restoration possible.

The first priority must be to devise sensible land-use policies to prevent unnecessary destruction of productive land. Congress must also enact the kind of reclamation law that former President Ford twice vetoed. To ensure that miners would reclaim the land their stripping spoils, the bills would have required that coal companies post performance bonds. The proposals would have mandated federal inspection and licensing of stripmining operations. Reckless or environmentally unsound practices would have incurred stiff fines. The interior secretary would have been allowed to issue or deny stripmining permits using the public interest—rather than corporate profitability—as the standard on which to base his decisions. The short-range economies of strip-mining are not worth its potential damage to fields and forests unless adequate safeguards are enacted to protect fertile land from destruction.

Drop Dead City?

Big Apple, with $7.5 billion payroll taking big bite, still faces Bankruptcy

NEW YORK — Little David, otherwise known as His Honor the Mayor, Abe Beame, all 5-foot-2 of him, glared at the Goliath known as the media, announced he wanted another four-year term as head of this cashless city, and then retorted to a tormenting journalist who had inquired if His Honor didn't believe that being 71 years of age was too old for the job.

Abe Beame offered to race the competition around the block. It would be quite a sprint. Not only because of the pickets who howled just outside the gates of this gracious sunlit East River lawn of the mansion on Gracie Square where we had all assembled the other day, but because the opposition is long-winded, full of clout and with some fascinating connections.

Apparently lots of politicians believe this vote-heavy metropolis is worth grabbing, through after June 30, 1978, it will need to borrow some $4 billion in the open credit market to stay solvent. Such cash will be hard to come by since the politics and profligacy of this town's past Democratic-Liberal mayors rolled up a $7.5 billion annual payroll. And billions more in interest service charges.

Yes, this Big Apple is a profile in the profligacy of politicians who always deliver to "the people" — meaning to the best organized machines.

Just look at the record: it takes some $67,000 a year to cover one New York City police captain. And about $37,000 annually to pay and provide all the perquisites of a uniformed cop. Also $34,000 yearly for one firefighter's cash wages and fringes. And some $22,000 annually for each sanitation man — before overtime.

From the city cash box must come over $15,000 a year for full wage and benefit coverage of a Transport Workers Union subway platform and toilet washer. The wage rate is about the same for a municipal hospital porter, whose dignity I respect but whose productivity and his or her skills and devotion I frequently don't.

How can any municipality survive financially where the total annual Medicaid bill is $2 billion? Of this total the federal government pays half, the state a quarter and the city throws in $500 million. These awesome statistics are about the same for "welfare" clients on what is technically and sociologically known as "public assistance." Thus the total bill to the city itself each year is a stupendous billion dollars. Much of it goes to ineligible. Or is otherwise ripped off by vendors including physicians now being grilled by U.S. attorney Robert Fiske and District Attorneys in the major counties.

Further, lest the impression is given here that only the proletarians of traditional muscular skills are reaching deep into the public coffers, there is the intelligentsia — the 18,000 professional men and women who are paid far more by the City University (CUNY) of New York than are 90 per cent of college teachers anywhere else. Thus it takes $160.8 million yearly to support CUNY's senior colleges.

Abe Beame laid it out on the line that balmy morning. With enormous courage, Little David disclosed he had trimmed the city payrolls of 60,000 employees. That took guts.

For mingling on the green with the media and the bright young people who were winging it into the Beame primary campaign were some of the nation's most powerful labor leaders. They were from the construction trades, the waterfront, the million-member city Central Labor Council, the garment industry, etc. They listened quietly. And they talked later about the loyalty they will show Abe.

Why this "loyalty"? Why are they bucking the opposition to Beame, conjured up by their own Democratic Gov. Hugh Carey and by such intimates of Jimmy Carter as polster Pat Caddell? Most of the opposition forces are behind New York Secretary of State Mario Cuomo for whom Frankie Sinatra will wing it.

The answer is that these labor leaders are realists. Most of them are from the private sector. And this vast city is their home, the center of their payrolls, education and family life.

These labor chiefs have watched as the public-sector unions — especially the police, the firefighters and the sanitation men — escalate the city payrolls and operating expenses to the point where Wisconsin Sen. William Proxmire, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, has said the city might as well go bankrupt.

But if it does collapse, not only will banks across the nation holding hundreds of million of dollars' worth of New York City bonds shudder as the dumping of the big Apple makes financial waves — but here there will be payless days, no credit for public construction and an almost science-fictional sinking into a rotting morass by the sea.

So most labor chiefs are for little Abe, who'll have to sprint hard to beat the field studded with Goliaths.

Watergate convictions upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today upheld the Watergate cover-up convictions of former Atty. Gen. John D. Mitchell and onetime White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

Mitchell and Haldeman have remained free pending the outcome of this appeal. Ehrlichman already is in prison. The court's action today means Mitchell and Haldeman likely will be imprisoned soon.

The justices rejected the claims by the three powerful officials of former President Richard M. Nixon's administration that the three-month trial that ended in their convictions Jan. 1, 1975 was unfair.

The justices made no comment in refusing to review the case. There were no recorded dissents, but Justice William H. Rehnquist noted that he took no part in deciding the case.

Self-determination favored

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Missouri and not the federal government will determine the water needs of the state and ways to meet them, Gov. Joseph T. Teasdale said today.

"My administration will not be content with federal determination of needs and locations for water development," Teasdale said in prepared remarks for the National Conference on Water here. "We will request federal assistance where needed, but we will chart our own course."

Citing concerns in 10 areas, the governor said the state must insure that water is always available at reasonable cost to all citizens and that if a shortage should arise the available water is provided to those activities needing it most.

"Water is too precious to waste, yet it is usually too inexpensive to treasure," Teasdale said. "Our challenge in government is to plan the wise use of water so that it is always available, yet never so expensive that citizens are denied the pleasures it affords."

Top aides to go to Seoul

WASHINGTON (AP) — After sacking an Army major general for questioning his Korea policy, President Carter is sending two top aides to Seoul for talks on his controversial troop withdrawal plan.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. George Brown, and the State Department's top political officer, Philip C. Habib, left Andrews Air Force Base near here this morning on a flight to the Korean capital to begin intensive consultations.

Showers dampen wide area

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Scattered thunderstorms soaked southern Missouri today and the heavy rains were expected to continue most of the day.

The heaviest storms occurred in the southwest part of the state to the south and southwest of the Lake of the Ozarks. The National Weather Service said the heavy rain in St. Clair County could produce some brief flooding in low lying areas.

Skies over the rest of the state were mostly cloudy and Gulf air was expected to warm temperatures in the 80s this afternoon. Occasional thundershowers were predicted tonight with lows in the 60s.

The weather service predicted sunny skies Tuesday with highs in the mid 80s northwest ranging to near 90 in the eastern part of the state.

Lindy's boyhood home marked

LITTLE FALLS, Minn. (AP) — Wrapping up a weekend of public appearances, only her second in 40 years, Charles A. Lindbergh's widow has helped dedicate his boyhood home as a national historical landmark.

"This was his base to come back to — in his mind and in his heart," Anne Morrow Lindbergh said Sunday. "He found here, and I find here, his love of the wilderness, the freedom of the river and a sense of boundless adventure."

Lindbergh was born in Detroit but grew up in Little Falls, a community of 8,000 in central Minnesota. His father, a Minnesota congressman, built the sturdy wooden house on the bank of the Mississippi River, hidden in a grove of trees.

His history-making solo flight from New York to Paris in 1927 touched off a wave of celebration then and a wave of commemoration this year.

Mrs. Lindbergh christened a jumbo jet and attended a lunch and banquet in New York before coming here.

Polygamist murder suspect

MURRAY, Utah (AP) — A Colorado woman has been arrested in Carrollton, Tex., on a warrant charging her with criminal conspiracy in the shooting death of polygamist leader Dr. Ron C. Alford.

The arrest of Nancy L. Chynoweth, 28, was announced on Sunday. She was held in the Dallas County Jail in lieu of $150,000 bail.

Police Chief Calvin G. Gillen declined to give details of the arrest, including whether Mrs. Chynoweth was a member of a polygamist group and whether there were other suspects.

Police said last week they were questioning members of the Church of the Lamb of God and that they were looking for its leader Ervil LeBaron.

Salt Lake City television station KUTV quoted a source as saying Mrs. Chynoweth is one of four wives of Victor Chynoweth and described him as a leader of the Church of the Lamb of God, a polygamist group in the Denver area.

Alford, a naturopathic physician, was shot six times by two women who entered his office here the afternoon of May 10. Police said several persons witnessed the killing.

Rights claims to be filed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is gathering evidence designed to show the Russians have violated the Helsinki accord's human rights provisions, but the Soviets are planning similar charges against the United States and its allies.

The rights issue is central to a meeting to be held in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, to examine workings of the 1975 Helsinki accords. The United States and the Soviet Union apparently are building evidence against each other.

The Helsinki pact bound 35 countries, including the United States and the Soviet Union, to observe "human rights ... fundamental freedoms and the freer movement" of ideas, people and information.

Nixon pondered pardoning all

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Nixon says that in the final days of his presidency he considered granting pardons to everybody involved in Watergate but decided not to because it would "in-flame the situation," according to published reports.

Nixon's comments from an interview with David Frost that will be aired Wednesday night are quoted in the current issue of Newsweek magazine.

The magazine said the former President had calls and letters from White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman recommending he couple a Watergate pardon with amnesty for draft evaders in the Vietnam war.

"The second part of it was totally out of the question as far as I was concerned," Nixon was quoted as saying.

"As for the first part, I would like to have been able to have found a way to help ... but I was resigning office for primarily the reason that I wanted to get the whole Watergate obsession, which had then reached fever heat, cooled down."

"If my last act was to pardon everybody who was in Watergate ... that would inflame the situation and also would obviously look like the ultimate cover-up."

Rogers helps Expos snap long skid; Pirates hand Dodgers' Sutton 1st loss

Steve Rogers

AP Sports Writer
The Montreal Expos had been doing things in a big way in recent times — a monster losing streak and a marathon game.

What they needed Sunday was a change of pace, and they got that from Steve Rogers.

"He's the stopper on the club," said Dick Williams.

Rogers lived up to his reputation by stopping an 11-game spin and helping the Expos defeat the San Diego Padres 3-1.

"He had all his pitches today and he won on good stuff," said Williams after watching his top pitcher handcuff the Padres on six hit and 11 strikeouts.

Rogers' quick and efficient work was done in 2 hours, 10 minutes, a far cry from Saturday night's game, which the Expos lost 11-8 in 21 innings.

In other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 11-4, the San Francisco Giants beat the St. Louis Cardinals 2-0, the Atlanta Braves whipped the Houston Astros 6-3 and the Cincinnati Reds tripped the New York Mets 8-1 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second game 4-3 in 11 innings.

Sunday's victory was the first for Montreal and Rogers since May 10, when the right-hander beat Los Angeles. Los Angeles' D'Acquisto allowed four hits and all the Expo runs in seven innings. D'Acquisto struck out four, issued five walks and threw four wild pitches.

Pirates 11, Dodgers 4
Dave Parker drove in five runs with two homers as Pittsburgh defeated Los Angeles and handed Dodger ace Don Sutton his first loss of the season after six victories.

Sutton yielded a three-run homer to Omar Moreno in the Pirates' four-run second inning and left the game after Pirate pitcher John Candelaria singled home the first run in Pittsburgh's five-run fourth inning. Parker hit a grand slam homer in the fourth and belted a solo shot in the eighth.

Giants 2, Cardinals 0
Jim Barr and Gary Lavelle teamed for a seven-hitter, pitching San Francisco over St. Louis with the aid of Gary Thomasson's solo home run. Barr tamed the Cards on six singles through seven innings. Lavelle permitted only a single in the eighth inning while recording his fourth save.

St. Louis right-hander Larry Dierker walked Derrell Thomas and Bill Madlock in the first inning and Willie McCovey delivered a two-out single for a 1-0 San Francisco lead.

Braves 5, Cubs 2
A two-run homer by Jeff Burroughs and a two-run triple by Gary Matthews backed Andy Messersmith's return to the Atlanta lineup as the Braves defeated Chicago. Messersmith was in control most of the six innings he pitched in his first appearance since suffering a recurrence of a muscle pull on April 30.

Phillies 6, Astros 3
Larry Bowa drove in three runs with a pair of doubles as Philadelphia defeated Houston. Winner Larry Christenson scattered seven hits before needing ninth-inning relief help. Houston starter Floyd Bannister surrendered all six Phillies' runs.

Reds 8-3, Mets 1-4
Johnny Bench hit his fourth home run in 10 games and drove in four runs to power Cincinnati's first-game victory over New York. The Mets won the nightcap as Mike Phillips singled home the tiebreaking run in the 11th inning.

Cardinal bats are missing on Bat Day vs. Giants

Hrabosky, Rapp, Devine settle feud today

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The indefinite suspension of St. Louis Cardinals relief pitcher Al Hrabosky was lifted today by manager Vern Rapp.

A spokesman for the club said the incidents which led to the suspension had been discussed and a satisfactory solution was achieved.

The announcement came after a meeting attended by Hrabosky, Rapp, executive vice president Bing Devine and Gerhard Petzall, Hrabosky's attorney.

Hrabosky, the Cards' leading relief pitcher, was suspended indefinitely by Rapp on Saturday for "rank insubordination" after spurning the manager's request for a meeting prior to a game against the San Francisco Giants.

And while Rapp refused to disclose the underlying reasons, the action was believed to have stemmed indirectly from Hrabosky's persistent challenges to club grooming rules.

"I was getting to the attitude where I didn't even want to come to the ball park," said Hrabosky, who first rebelled against Rapp's orders against player mustaches and beards during spring training.

"My wife and I had a long talk last night and I just decided that I'd have no more communication with him," he added. "I said, 'Is there any way to try to talk to Devine and communicate the problem?' But the man would have no part of it. Both of us have a lot of pride."

myself once or twice saying, "Darn, we've got to score a run. It's 0-0." Then I remembered we'd scored early," Barr said.

Willie McCovey's single manufactured the Giants' first run following two game-opening walks by Cards starter Larry Dierker, 0-1, who pitched five innings in his injury-delayed St. Louis debut.

Three innings later, Gary Thomasson hopped on a high Dierker fast ball and drove it into the right-center field bleachers for his third home run of the year.

Shue's 76ers break ahead in finals

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gene Shue had a grin on his face and a gleam in his eye, like a kid who managed to empty the cookie jar and escape undetected.

All year long he's heard the sniping remarks — Shue can't coach, his team is just a bunch of individuals, if Philadelphia wins, it is despite Shue rather than because of him.

On Sunday, Shue sat behind a battery of microphones and tried not to exhibit too much elation, but inside he had to be beaming. For it was a strategic wrinkle put in by Shue during closed practice sessions last week that provided the impetus for the Philadelphia 76ers' 107-101 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers in Sunday's first game of the best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship series.

"We took away their pressure defense by having our centers take the ball up the court," Shue said. "The strength of the Portland team is in the pressure their guards apply, so we attacked them at their weakest link."

While that weakest link, center Bill Walton, laid back at the other end of the court, the Sixers' 6-foot-11 pivotman, Caldwell Jones, took over the ball-handling chores with ease.

To be sure, there were other factors contributing to the victory. Julius Erving scored 33 points and seemed to dominate the game during parts of the second half, and backcourtman Doug Collins added 30 points.

The Blazers never really got their potent running game going, and Philadelphia hit its first 23 free throws and finished 27-for-32, while three Portland starters fouled out.

But the playmaking presence of Jones was the one surprise.

Canalou slow pitch tourney needs teams

The Canalou Little River Valley Classic slow pitch softball tournament's start has been set back to June 6, according to David Adams.

The double-elimination tournament is now scheduled to run from June 6-11. Entry fees will be $30 per team, with trophies being awarded to the first, second and third place teams.

Anyone wishing to enter a team can contact Fred Lasters at 667-5574 after 8:00 p.m.

the one imponderable, which seemed to tip the scales.

"I think they were really shocked when they saw C.J. bring the ball up," said Collins. "He's the tallest playmaker in history right now."

"It was a good tactic," conceded Portland Coach Jack Ramsay. "It worked very effectively. We tried several things against it, but none worked very well."

Walton, who led the Blazers with 28 points and 20 rebounds, parried questions about the game in general and Jones' play in particular.

"They played better than us, so they won," he said. "That's all I have to say."

But Portland guard Herm Gilliam observed, "We've got some things to talk about, lots of things." And Blazers assistant coach Jack McKinney said, "We didn't handle Jones' bringing the ball up very well. You can expect some adjustments."

Whether those adjustments will work won't be known until the series resumes here Thursday night. Until then, the Sixers can savor their hard-earned opening-game victory.

"I'm ecstatic right now," said Collins. "We won that first game! We still have to win four, but we've taken that first step. I feel I played the hardest of my life today. It was tooth-and-nail for 48 minutes."

Janet's car holds up to qualify

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "From about the second lap, I thought it was going to blow," Janet Guthrie said. "The engine was making those kind of noises it has in the past just before it's going to let go."

"The oil pressure gauge was going crazy, back and forth all the way down to zero, and there was this terrific rattling noise behind my head. I was just waiting. I never thought it would make it."

But Miss Guthrie, the 39-year-old former astronaut candidate who jumped from little league sports car racing to big time speedway driving last year, kept her green and white

Lightning racer together for a sizzling 188.403 miles per hour 10-mile qualifying average Sunday that made her the first woman ever in the field for the Indianapolis 500.

Miss Guthrie's best lap of 188.957 is a women's closed course speed record, but she chafes at the mention of anything but "ultimate" records. "My folks brought me up not to think women can't do things because they are women," she said.

Her average speed was the fastest for any qualification run made the final weekend of time trials for the May 29 speed classic, even though it earned her only 26th starting position.

A few minutes later her joy was tempered with the news that her teammate, Dick Simon, who she credits with making the chassis adjustments that allowed her to "stand on it," had been scalded while shaking down a backup car.

Simon, who qualified one of three Vollstedt team entries at 185.615, suffered second and possibly third degree burns on the rump after a water hose let go inside the cockpit. He was getting the car ready for a qualification attempt by Jerry Karl.

Simon said he expects to be ready to race next Sunday. "I've got a pretty tough hide," he said.

Miss Guthrie's speedy run, which differed from every other driver's attempt in that she got faster with each of the four laps, was the highlight — but not by a landslide — of the final days of trials.

Braves 5, Cubs 2
A two-run homer by Jeff Burroughs and a two-run triple by Gary Matthews backed Andy Messersmith's return to the Atlanta lineup as the Braves defeated Chicago. Messersmith was in control most of the six innings he pitched in his first appearance since suffering a recurrence of a muscle pull on April 30.

Phillies 6, Astros 3
Larry Bowa drove in three runs with a pair of doubles as Philadelphia defeated Houston. Winner Larry Christenson scattered seven hits before needing ninth-inning relief help. Houston starter Floyd Bannister surrendered all six Phillies' runs.

Reds 8-3, Mets 1-4
Johnny Bench hit his fourth home run in 10 games and drove in four runs to power Cincinnati's first-game victory over New York. The Mets won the nightcap as Mike Phillips singled home the tiebreaking run in the 11th inning.

Cardinal bats are missing on Bat Day vs. Giants

Hrabosky, Rapp, Devine settle feud today

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The indefinite suspension of St. Louis Cardinals relief pitcher Al Hrabosky was lifted today by manager Vern Rapp.

A spokesman for the club said the incidents which led to the suspension had been discussed and a satisfactory solution was achieved.

The announcement came after a meeting attended by Hrabosky, Rapp, executive vice president Bing Devine and Gerhard Petzall, Hrabosky's attorney.

Hrabosky, the Cards' leading relief pitcher, was suspended indefinitely by Rapp on Saturday for "rank insubordination" after spurning the manager's request for a meeting prior to a game against the San Francisco Giants.

And while Rapp refused to disclose the underlying reasons, the action was believed to have stemmed indirectly from Hrabosky's persistent challenges to club grooming rules.

"I was getting to the attitude where I didn't even want to come to the ball park," said Hrabosky, who first rebelled against Rapp's orders against playing mustaches and beards during spring training.

"My wife and I had a long talk last night and I just decided that I'd have no more communication with him," he added. "I said, 'Is there any way to try to talk to Devine and communicate the problem?' But the man would have no part of it. Both of us have a lot of pride."

myself once or twice saying, 'Darn, we've got to score a run. It's 0-0. Then I remembered we'd scored early,' Barr said.

Willie McCovey's single manufactured the Giants' first run following two game-opening walks by Cards starter Larry Dierker, 0-1, who pitched five

Rain halts bid for first win for Jeff Jackson and Saints

A heavy downpour stopped Bi-State League action between the Saints and Perryville Sunday afternoon. At the time the rain struck the Saints held a 1-0 lead on Jim Sauter's homerun in the second.

In the summer of 1976 Jeff Jackson suffered to an 0-3 record and an ERA over six per game. The 6-3, 200-pounder swears that he'll beat those figures this time around.

"I've changed my act — straightened up — this year," said Jackson recently, pointing to much individual hard work earlier this spring.

The hard-throwing righthander, nearly untouchable in high school, has staggered in recent years. But, if Sunday's game is any indication, he's on the way back. Jackson went to a three-ball count only once and didn't walk a man in his short four-inning stint. He used a good curve, to go with his fastball, to hold the 2-0 Perryville team to one safety.

"I've thrown a little bit almost every day," points out the veteran Saint. "I hope it helps, 'cause I've been miserable for the last year."

Despite the fact that the Saints remain 0-1, the efforts of Jackson Sunday afternoon, added to those of Glen Alexander against the powerful Capahas, indicate that the Saints may be just a little better on the mound than was initially feared. Three pitchers (Don Miller, Bob and Richard Blankenship) who carried the team a year ago, are not with the Saints this time around. Those three combined for 13-5 record last year. The team record was 18-13.

The Saints' next game will be at Cape Friday night at 8 p.m. against the Capahas. Memories of the error-infested 12-2 loss last week will be fresh on everyone's mind.

Wappapello lakeshore meeting set for Thursday at Three Rivers

The second meeting on the proposed Lakeshore Management Plan for Lake Wappapello is scheduled to be held in the Three Rivers Community College Auditorium at 507 Vine Street in Poplar Bluff, Missouri beginning at 7:00 p.m. Thursday evening, May 26.

The first public meeting on the Lakeshore Management Plan was held February 15 and, according to Col Robert W. Lockridge, Jr., District Engineer for the Memphis

District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the May 26 meeting will be held to present the current plan for the management of the Wappapello Lakeshore that resulted from the February public meeting.

"The February meeting was very productive in terms of public participation in the formulation of the plan," Col Lockridge said, "and the plan that will be presented at the upcoming meeting will reflect, to the greatest possible extent, the views and comments we received at the first meeting."

"As part of the public meeting," Col Lockridge said, "we'll explain the proposed zoning of Wappapello Lake and present plans for restoring and preserving the shoreline as well as proposals for managing duck blinds, swim floats, boat docks, tramways, stairways and other structures and facilities on the lake surface and shoreline."

The proposed plan includes provisions for allocation of the Lake Wappapello shoreline into four zones: Public Recreation, Protected Lakeshore, Limited Development and Prohibited Access areas.

"Public Recreation areas are those areas within or near developed or proposed public use areas," Col Lockridge said. "Protected Lakeshore areas include those designated primarily to protect aesthetic, environmental or fish and wildlife values."

"Limited Development areas," he said, "are those in which we propose to permit private facilities while Prohibited Access areas are those allocated for the protection of ecosystems or for providing physical safety to visitors at the lake."

"We want everyone who has an interest in lakeshore management to attend the meeting, hear our proposals and present their views," Col Lockridge said, "and those who do not wish to make an oral statement at the meeting may submit written statements, either at the meeting or they may send their written comments to the Memphis District headquarters before June 15, 1977."

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer

Garment has its own color

DEAR POLLY — Do you have any suggestions for getting perspiration odors out of clothing — especially some types of synthetics? They smell clean when washed but after wearing even for an hour the body warmth seems to bring out the perspiration odor again. — A.B.

DEAR A.B. — The odor you speak of may be in the fabric itself rather than perspiration. We have had many letters from readers complaining about the odor in some synthetics even when new.

You might try rinsing the garments in a white vinegar-water solution but test first to see its effects on the fabric. A strong solution of baking soda and water might also solve the problem. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those unsolicited catalogs that come in the mail with a notice that due to the high cost of postage they cannot send any more unless you order something immediately. Who needs them? — MRS. J.F.

DEAR POLLY — A reader complained about her mattress slipping around and I want to tell her and the others how I solved this problem. I stretched a fitted sheet (an old one will do) across the top of the box springs and then I stretched another fitted sheet over the bottom side of the mattress. No more slipping.

To remove stubborn water spots from windows, especially outside ones, I use one tablespoon boric acid in a quart of warm water to wash them.

Cut flowers seem to last longer when I put a teaspoon of salt in the water. — MRS. E.A.R.

DEAR POLLY — I have a few decorative curtain rods on small windows where the center supports are unnecessary. These supports make great hangers for small planters. They are adjustable, they extend up to five inches from the wall and sometimes more depending on how they are made. I find them very attractive and handy in those places where just a little greenery is needed. — MRS. J.M.Z.

DEAR POLLY — A simple way to get out just a drop or two of food coloring is to take a regular drinking straw and dip it in the bottle. Only a small amount will cling to the straw. Shake that little bit into whatever you want to color. — DOROTHY.

DEAR POLLY — Like most everyone else today I coupon-shop as much as possible. I decided to put the savings to work. I keep track of the amount I save on coupons and items with "cents off" and deposit this amount in the bank to be used at my pleasure. It is surprising how soon a few cents here and few there can add up. In about eight weeks I have nearly $8 I would not have had otherwise. — JANET V.

WASPS give greatest support

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "forgotten women" of World Wars I and II are launching a new battle in Congress in an effort to gain veterans benefits the government has refused to give them.

The biggest campaign is being conducted by former Womens Army Service Pilots, or WASPs — women who flew military planes over 60 million miles during World War II. A smaller group is made up of women who enlisted in the Army Signal Corps in World War I and often served just behind the front lines.

Witnesses supporting veterans benefits for the women will testify Wednesday before the Senate Veterans Affairs Committee.

Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Tex., chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, also plans hearings later for those groups and for others seeking similar recognition from the government. Others trying to win benefits include women who served in the Merchant Marine, Red Cross and the Women's Auxiliary Corps, the original WASPs.

GI educational benefits have expired, but the women could claim government pensions and receive care at Veterans Administration hospitals. They also could apply for low-interest GI home loans.

Rep. Mark Hannaford, D-Calif., who backs the cause of the World War I women, estimates that between 40 and 60 of them are still alive.

There were more than 1,000 WASPs during World War II and an estimated 850 are still alive.

Getting married?

The Daily Standard, 205 S. New Madrid St., now has new wedding forms available at the front office or at the women's desk. Business hours are from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Forms will be mailed if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is provided.

The deadline for weddings is three weeks after date of wedding. Pictures will be returned if a self-addressed, stamped envelope large enough to hold a picture is supplied. Color pictures are discouraged.

There is no charge for running a wedding. We are happy to publish it.

Laws needed against children's porn

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing to you because I know you reach millions of people. Our government is busy preserving our "natural resources." We have TV programs to promote the protection of wildlife, trees and waterways. Campaigns are waged to fight pollution. All of this is very important. But our children are this country's most valuable natural resource and they need protection.

I heard Dr. Judianne Densen-Gerber of New York speak at a church in my neighborhood recently. Her subject was child abuse. I am not talking about battered children, although there are thousands of those. I am talking about another kind of abuse.

Dr. Densen-Gerber showed pornographic literature which contained pictures of children in lewd positions and told how to discipline your child physically. It was apparent that the discipline was designed to give sexual stimulation to the parent. These children — some as young as six years of age — must be protected against parents who sell them as models for sex magazines.

We need laws to protect our children. Such legislation will be written only if there is pressure from the public. Will you please print this letter and make some comments? Something must be done. — Jennifer G. Of Chicago

Dear Mrs. G.: I visited with Dr. Judianne Densen-Gerber privately and was shown the same literature and pictures you saw. It made me sick.

I immediately contacted Ilana Diamond Rovner, the Chief of Public Protection at the U.S. Attorney's office in Chicago. She told me that due to the recent publicity there has been heightened interest, not only by sickies who want to buy the stuff, but pressure groups eager to prosecute the dealers and put an end to the whole rotten business. Consequently, "kid porn" has gone underground. But eventually, the dealers will be caught.

Mrs. Rovner said the Illinois state legislature is now working on laws which would classify this horror not as pornography, but child abuse — which it most certainly is.

Another reassuring note: U.S. Customs, in conjunction with the U.S. Attorneys and the federal courts, is now destroying tons of "kid porn" as it arrives from foreign countries.

Anyone who knows of shops where kid porn is being sold should contact the local police or the U.S. Attorney's office in their district at once.

Dear Ann: Please say something about dinner guests who bring along a friend or relative at the very last minute. What I mean is they show up at the door and say, "I know you won't mind. One more doesn't make any difference."

It can make a lot of difference when you have eight dining room chairs, eight individual desserts made up, service for eight in your good china, silver and glassware.

This happened to me last night and I am boiling. The one extra that "didn't make any difference" ruined the looks of my table and threw off the seating plan I had slaved over for an hour. Print this, please, and you will be applauded by every hostess in America. — Burned In Westchester

Dear Burned: You took the words right out of my mouth. Yours is a letter I can identify with, and I thank you on behalf of every hostess — everywhere.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Garment has its own color

DEAR POLLY — Do you have any suggestions for getting perspiration odors out of clothing — especially some types of synthetics? They smell clean when washed but after wearing even for an hour the body warmth seems to bring out the perspiration odor again. — A.B.

DEAR A.B. — The odor you speak of may be in the fabric itself rather than perspiration. We have had many letters from readers complaining about the odor in some synthetics even when new.

You might try rinsing the garments in a white vinegar-water solution but test first to see its effects on the fabric. A strong solution of baking soda and water might also solve the problem. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those unsolicited catalogs that come in the mail with a notice that due to the high cost of postage they cannot send any more unless you order something immediately. Who needs them? — MRS. J.F.

DEAR POLLY — A reader complained about her mattress slipping around and I want to tell her and the others how I solved this problem. I stretched a fitted sheet (an old one will do) across the top of the box springs and then I stretched another fitted sheet over the bottom side of the mattress. No more slipping.

To remove stubborn water spots from windows, especially outside ones, I use one tablespoon boric acid in a quart of warm water to wash them.

Cut flowers seem to last longer when I put a teaspoon of salt in the water. — MRS. E.A.R.

DEAR POLLY — I have a few decorative curtain rods on small windows where the center supports are unnecessary. These supports make great hangers for small planters. They are adjustable, they extend up to five inches from the wall and sometimes more depending on how they are made. I find them very attractive and handy in those places where just a little greenery is needed. — MRS. J.M.Z.

DEAR POLLY — A simple way to get out just a drop or two of food coloring is to take a regular drinking straw and dip it in the bottle. Only a small amount will cling to the straw. Shake that little bit into whatever you want to color. — DOROTHY.

DEAR POLLY — Like most everyone else today I coupon-shop as much as possible. I decided to put the savings to work. I keep track of the amount I save on coupons and items with "cents off" and deposit this amount in the bank to be used at my pleasure. It is surprising how soon a few cents here and there can add up. In about eight weeks I have nearly $8 I would not have had otherwise. — JANET V.

WASPS give greatest support

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "forgotten women" of World Wars I and II are launching a new battle in Congress in an effort to gain veterans benefits the government has refused to give them.

The biggest campaign is being conducted by former Women's Army Service Pilots, or WASPs — women who flew military planes over 60 million miles during World War II. A smaller group is made up of women who enlisted in the Army Signal Corps in World War I and often served just behind the front lines.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, May 23, the 143rd day of 1977. There are 222 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1937, the Supreme Court upheld the Social Security Act as constitutional.
On this date:
In 1455, the Battle of St. Albans was fought in England's War of the Roses.
In 1701, Capt. William Kidd was hanged in London after being convicted of piracy and murder.
In 1788, South Carolina became the eighth state.
In 1960, Israel disclosed that former Nazi official Adolf Eichmann had been captured in Argentina and would be tried in Israel as a war criminal.
In 1965 heavy fighting broke out between troops and striking miners in Bolivia after the government ordered the armed forces to take over tin mines throughout the country.

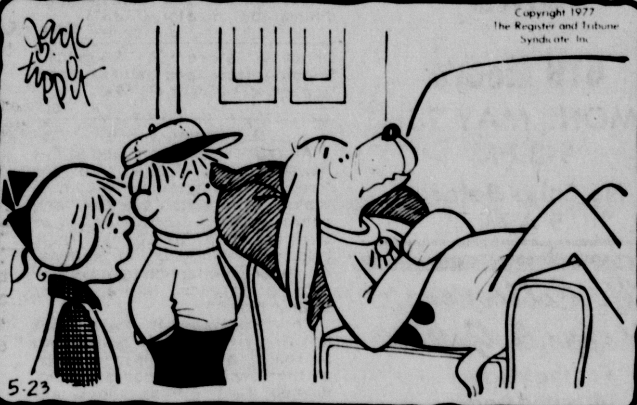

In 1971, the death toll was put at about 1,000 in an earthquake that destroyed the town of Bingol in eastern Turkey.
Ten years ago: Egypt carried out land, sea and air operations to block the Gulf of Aqaba.
Five years ago: The Pentagon said the air war against North Vietnam would be widened to include industrial targets.
One year ago: Six hijackers exploded grenades in an airliner at Zamboanga in the Philippines, setting the plane on fire. Ten hostages and three of the hijackers were killed.
Today's birthdays: Director John Knowles of Massachusetts General Hospital is 51 years old. Former director John Hightower of New York's Museum of Modern Art is 44.
Thought for today: I am a slow walker, but I never walk backwards — President Abraham Lincoln, 1809-1865.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, May 23, the 143rd day of 1977. There are 222 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1937, the Supreme Court upheld the Social Security Act as constitutional.

On this date:

In 1455, the Battle of St. Albans was fought in England's War of the Roses.

In 1701, Capt. William Kidd was hanged in London after being convicted of piracy and murder.

In 1788, South Carolina became the eighth state.

In 1960, Israel disclosed that former Nazi official Adolf Eichmann had been captured in Argentina and would be tried in Israel as a war criminal.

In 1965 heavy fighting broke out between troops and striking miners in Bolivia after the government ordered the armed forces to take over tin mines throughout the country.

In 1971, the death toll was put at about 1,000 in an earthquake that destroyed the town of Bingley in eastern Turkey.

Ten years ago: Egypt carried out land, sea and air operations to block the Gulf of Aqaba.

Five years ago: The Pentagon said the air war against North Vietnam would be widened to include industrial targets.

One year ago: Six hijackers exploded grenades in an airliner at Zamboanga in the Philippines, setting the plane on fire. Ten hostages and three of the hijackers were killed.

Today's birthdays: Director John Knowles of Massachusetts General Hospital is 51 years old. Former director John Hightower of New York's Museum of Modern Art is 44.

Thought for today: I am a slow walker, but I never walk backwards — President Abraham Lincoln, 1809-1865.

Overpass bids to be opened

ILLMO — The long-awaited overpass over the Cotton Belt Railroad tracks here where a number of lives have been lost in accidents over the years at last appears to be nearing reality.

Bids on the project are to be opened in Jefferson City May 27, the Missouri Highway Department has announced. It will review them and decide whether to award a contract in June.

The overpass is to be constructed across the multiple tracks at a point located just east of the railroad station and offices.

Plans call for a bridge, grading, construction of culverts, and 24-foot wide pavement on Route K for two-tenths of a mile from Route N, south to Hickory street.

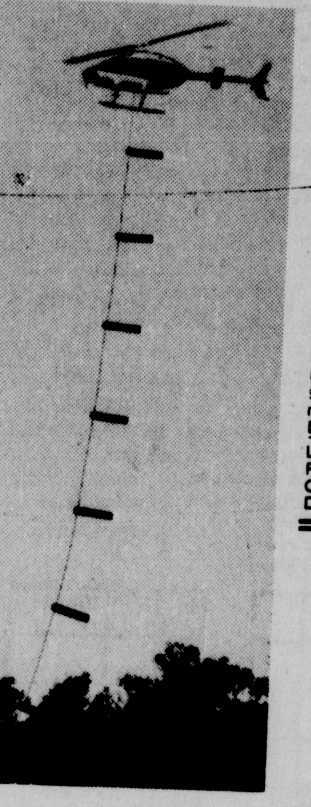

Gary Chegwidden of the District 10 office in Sikeston said the department had hoped to let the bid in early spring, but problems in acquiring right of way from the railroad had delayed the bidding.

The bridge is anticipated to be a multimillion dollar project. Residents of Illmo, Scott City and the entire area have for several years petitioned to get the overpass constructed.

A number of additional projects for the region are among bids to be opened this week. In Poplar Bluff, an eight-mile stretch of Highway 67 will be resurfaced from four miles south of Wayne County to Route P.

Near Marston, two rest areas are to be rebuilt. Included in the project are lighting, signs, sewer lines and paving on I-55 about one mile northeast of Route EE.

What's the law?

The case of the insulting wall

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Graffiti on an exterior wall caused Millie to turn five different colors as she approached Willie's Bar and Grill. The author of the scrawl — whoever he was — suggested in large artistic letters that when Millie got "tight," she also became "loose."

Dashing inside, the bar and grill, Millie demanded that the insulting graffiti be removed immediately. Willie, however, was too busy inside his gin mill to be concerned about what was going on outside of it.

The result: Millie waited at the wall for over a week, and when the graffiti still wasn't removed, she sued Willie for libel and for causing her no end of personal grief.

"I don't know what the little lady is talking about," Willie said as he defended himself in court. "I never said a bad word about her in my whole life."

"Maybe not directly," responded Millie, "but by not removing the slurs against me on his wall — which he left there for the whole world to see — he was just as responsible as if he had written them. Since it was his building, the words became his, too."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold Willie liable for the libelous graffiti?

This is how the judge ruled: NO. The judge held that when a person "invites" the public into his place of business, he can be held responsible for libelous words written by third parties on his walls if he fails to remove same since he, in effect, invites the public to read the words by inviting them into his premises. However, concluded the judge, he cannot be held responsible for such words being written on the exterior of his building since he invites no one, directly or indirectly, to read what is there.

Trade adjustment assistance denied

MALDEN — The Labor Department has denied a petition for trade adjustment assistance filed on behalf of workers employed by H. W. Gossard Co., in Piggott, Ark.; Poplar Bluff, Malden and Malden Air Base.

The petition requesting certification of eligibility for the H. W. Gossard Co., workers to apply for adjustment assistance was filed with the Labor Department on Dec. 8, 1976, by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union (ILGWU), AFL-CIO, on behalf of workers and former workers producing women's lingerie at the H. W. Gossard Co., plants in Piggott, Ark., and in Poplar Bluff, Malden, and Malden Air Base, Mo.

A subsequent investigation by the Labor Department revealed that employment of production workers at the Piggott, Ark., plant increased from 1975 to 1976. All employees and production of the Malden Air Base plant were transferred to the Malden plant in January 1977. Sales and production of women's lingerie by the Gossard Co., increased each year from 1974 to 1976. Production of women's sleepwear at the Poplar Bluff and Malden plants increased in the first 11 months

BASEMENT LEAKS Contractors-Home Owners

Now for the first time in this area
YOU CAN STRUCTURALLY REPAIR
CRACKED CONCRETE WITH
Structural concrete bonding
process.

The SCB Process is a proprietary system developed by Adhesive Engineering Company. It is the only complete epoxy injection system that can successfully repair concrete structures cracked by: shrinkage during cure; mechanical overload; temperature changes; base of foundation settlement; and human error. High strength, low viscosity Concessive adhesives are injected full depth into fissures in concrete down to 0.002 in wide in most cases. When the injected adhesive cures, usually in a few hours, it seals the crack network completely and also restores the concrete to a monolithic load-bearing condition. The SCB Process is the only crack repair method available from over 50 factory-trained and licensed applicators throughout the world.

BASEMENT LEAKS Contractors-Home Owners

Now for the first time in this area
YOU CAN STRUCTURALLY REPAIR
CRACKED CONCRETE WITH
Structural concrete bonding
process.

The SCB Process is a proprietary system developed by Adhesive Engineering Company. It is the only complete epoxy injection system that can successfully repair concrete structures cracked by: shrinkage during cure; mechanical overload; temperature changes; base of foundation settlement; and human error. High strength, low viscosity Concessive adhesives are injected full depth into fissures in concrete down to 0.002 in wide in most cases. When the injected adhesive cures, usually in a few hours, it seals the crack network completely and also restores the concrete to a monolithic load-bearing condition. The SCB Process is the only crack repair method available from over 50 factory-trained and licensed applicators throughout the world.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

By RAYMOND CREWS

As Memorial Day approaches, the words of William E. Gladstone come to mind. He was the brilliant British political figure, 4 times Prime Minister who died in 1898. "Show me the manner in which a nation cares for its dead, and I will measure with mathematical exactness the tender mercies of its people, their respect for the laws of the land and their loyalty to high ideals."

His words have special significance on our American scene. While Memorial Day is observed and all our dead are honored in every town and village, special attention is always centered on Arlington National Cemetery, our nation's Memorial shrine. Arlington National Cemetery occupies what was once the family estate of Mrs. Robert E. Lee. Robert E. Lee, as you know, was the Commanding General of the CONFEDERATE armies. This chosen location is proof positive of American tender mercies with loyalty to high ideals.

In next week's thought you will read about the tomb of America's Unknown Soldier. It will be interesting. Don't miss it...

James Ernest Green, 76, of Cape Girardeau.

The patrol reported Green stopped his eastbound car at a stop sign, then pulled into the path of a car driven by Norman Moore, 59, of Cape Girardeau, which was traveling south on Highway 105.

Mrs. Green was taken to a doctors office at Charleston.

Green was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

William Carter Dixon, 29, of Charleston

It is often called the silent killer because, for many years, high blood pressure usually has no symptoms to warn a person that he is ill."

The local projections were made by correlating Census Bureau data with information disclosed by the survey on the sex, race and age of those with high blood pressure.

Statistics for other counties in area are:

Do you remember when--- The Sikeston Standard came to Sikeston?

The Sikeston Standard was purchased on March 1, 1913 by Charles L. Blanton Sr., known to his friends as the Colonel, or "Polocat."

With $500 of borrowed money, the Colonel bought what was then a four-page weekly paper from the Maester Brothers of Cape Girardeau.

The first copy of the paper was published by the Blantons on March 7, 1913.

The paper was set by hand and came out on Fridays. At that time, there were only four employees, including the Colonel and his son, Charles Blanton Jr., now known affectionately at the Standard office as Mr. B.

In 1920, a notary public attested that the Standard's circulation was 1,140. Advertisements often ran on the front page in those days even at the top. The page makeup was vertical, with one-column stories and headlines.

The Blantons declared their Democratic party affiliation, which often manifested itself in the paper's content. Charles Blanton Sr.'s Polocat column, which ran on the front page, also reflected the ideas of its author, who was famous for sticking to his guns.

By 1927, The Colonel and his son were publishers of the paper. In that year, the paper began publication as a semi-weekly. In 1947, Charles Blanton Jr., who attended the University of Illinois and was a veteran of World War I, became half owner of the paper.

He became publisher when his father died in 1948.

C.L. Blanton Jr., who was dubbed "Poor Charlie" by a fellow publisher, wrote his column "Poor Charlie Says" and continued in his father's footsteps.

The paper began its operation in the old McCoy-Tanner Building on the corner of Center and New Madrid streets. It later moved to the Chaney Building, 112 N. Kingshighway. In 1951, the paper moved to its present location.

In 1947, the paper became a daily. In 1948, it was incorporated and in 1964 it went offset.

Today, Charles Blanton Jr. and his sons, Charles Blanton III and Allen M. Blanton, are publishers. The paper is published daily, except Saturday and has a circulation of 12,000. It also publishes a free distribution weekly newspaper, The Four County Free Press with a circulation of 15,000.

The Bank of Sikeston is honored to have had the pleasure of serving The Sikeston Standard in the past and is looking forward to serving them in the future. We will them many years of continued success.

Birth control pills attacked again

BOSTON (AP) — Two Harvard experts say the risk of heart attack is so great that women over 40 and younger women who smoke or have high blood pressure should not take birth control pills.

Theirs is yet another opinion in a widening debate over the use of oral contraceptives.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

By RAYMOND CREWS

As Memorial Day approaches, the words of William E. Gladstone come to mind. He was the brilliant British political figure, 4 times Prime Minister who died in 1898. "Show me the manner in which a nation cares for its dead, and I will measure with mathematical exactness the tender mercies of its people, their respect for the laws of the land and their loyalty to high ideals."

His words have special significance on our American scene. While Memorial Day is observed and all our dead are honored in every town and village, special attention is always centered on Arlington National Cemetery, our nation's Memorial shrine. Arlington National Cemetery occupies what was once the family estate of Mrs. Robert E. Lee. Robert E. Lee, as you know, was the Commanding General of the CONFEDERATE armies. This chosen location is proof positive of American tender mercies with loyalty to high ideals.

In next week's thought you will read about the tomb of America's Unknown Soldier. It will be interesting. Don't miss it.
